Aiming to Achieve a Highly Advanced Restaurant Industry

Since its founding, Saizeriya's principle has been to provide a rich food culture, with healthy, tasty Italian food at a price that means anyone can eat it every day. To do this, we built a consistent manufacturing and sales system covering everything from the purchasing of raw materials to restaurant service, and grew into a chain of restaurants comprising 842 outlets throughout Japan and 65 overseas.

We are now aiming to achieve a highly advanced restaurant industry, boosting productivity to a level which rivals other industries. In the fiscal year ending August 31, 2011, we will start various projects and make concrete progress in our reforms.

We will build solid profitability and execute new projects for growth.

The fiscal year ended August 31, 2010, had a very difficult business environment. Signs of partial recovery were seen, but consumption continued to be weak, with price competition extending even to industries beyond the restaurant market. In these conditions, Saizeriya worked to improve profitability and strengthen its business base through further advancing the technological levels of its vertical merchandising system. This system is aimed at consistently managing everything from the purchasing of ingredients to the delivery of our products to customers, in order to enhance efficiency and productivity.

In the fiscal year under review, we worked to boost our profitability by entering new trading zones to gain new customers, and by thoroughly improving efficiency further in each stage of our operations: manufacturing, logistics and restaurants. As a result, the Company booked consolidated net sales of 99,459 million yen in the fiscal year under review, up 12.6% from the previous year, and operating income of 14,365 million yen, up 56.7%. Net sales were the highest in the history of the Company, and the 38th consecutive increase since its foundation. Our operating income, ordinary income, and net income were also the highest so far.

During the fiscal year, we were able to obtain human resources and raise capital in order to face the challenges we had set: build the profitability of our restaurant business in Japan, create a business model for our overseas restaurant business, and create thriving restaurants in new operating formats. Aiming at further growth, we will work on new projects we have launched: introducing a new ERP system which is infrastructure for our business development, rebuilding the commissaries which are the pillars of our manufacturing (food processing and logistics plants), etc.

We ask for your understanding of Saizeriya's measures, and look forward to enjoying continued support from you, our shareholders.

nterview with the

In our restaurant business in Japan, we opened our first outlets in the Kyushu area and proceeded to renovate existing outlets.

We opened our first Kyushu outlet in March 2010. Many customers made it a big success from the first day. However, as too many customers were attracted, exceeding the capacity of one restaurant, we rapidly opened more outlets to prevent a drop in service quality, and expanded into four outlets in the cities of Fukuoka and Kitakyushu. As for our existing outlets, to prevent large numbers of outlets from deteriorating at the same time, we actively closed some outlets in advance and worked on renovations. We grew by a net 39 outlets during the fiscal year under review, with 52 new openings and 13 closures.

We aim to achieve a chain of 1,000 outlets in three years. Meanwhile, we are building an organization which can continually implement improvements and can expand stably even after we surpass 1,000 outlets.

We also aim to develop the commissary system in our overseas restaurant business.

In our overseas restaurant business, we ensure the staff of each subsidiary in an overseas region includes two Japanese staff members. These Japanese staff members, who have close familiarity with Saizeriya's philosophy, are able to communicate this philosophy to the local staff that carries out outlet operations while educating the staff on products and services. By doing so, it is possible to raise the quality of local staff and provide a high quality of service. As in Japan, we aim to develop a commissary system in China, which will provide good flavor with consistent quality. To do this, we will first establish an experimental factory in China to discover the issues faced.

We are implementing improvements to boost profitability, unconstrained by existing concepts.

To boost profitability, we cut costs by using manufacturing control technology to eliminate waste in various aspects of manufacturing, logistics and restaurants. We especially investigate areas which tend to be considered as fixed costs and therefore are excluded from cost cutting. With a view that

President

Review of business results for the fiscal year ended August 31, 2010, and forecast for the fiscal year ending August 31, 2011

reconsiders these as variable costs, we are working to cut costs further. We investigate matters from various angles, review variable costs and fixed costs, and work hard to lower our break-even points.

We are the first restaurant business to implement the concept of R&D to develop and provide innovative products.

We adopted the concept of R&D, which is common for a manufacturer, and aim to continually invest 1% of net sales into R&D. Considering that product development means the development of ingredients themselves, we conduct research starting from ingredients through to their cooking and processing methods to develop and provide products which others can't imitate. To strengthen our ingredients technologies, we established the Agri Technology Center, which does R&D on the cultivation and processing of agricultural crops, and the Product Development Center, which does R&D on products such as meat handling and hamburgers. We are also investigating the construction of a New Commissary, which will perform the function of R&D on the processing and logistics of food products.

These initiatives help us provide products with greater value at reasonable prices, while maintaining the structure of our vertical merchandising system and boosting the level of its content.

Review of Operations

Saizeriya Co., Ltd. and its Consolidated Subsidiaries

Operating Results for this Term

The Japanese economy in the fiscal year under review showed signs of recovery due to growth in exports because of recovery in overseas emerging economies and the effects of government economic policies. However, the effects on the Japanese economy by the progressively stronger yen have begun to create concerns. The future has been unclear throughout this period.

In terms of the dining-out industry, consumer confidence continues to be weak due to insecurities about employment and income, and there is increasingly harsh price competition between companies in an environment of a continuing deflation trend. Companies continued to face a very difficult business environment.

Under these conditions, the Saizeriya Group worked on strengthening its profitability: entering new trading zones to gain new customers, improving its menus, and projects to boost efficiency, etc.

As a result, the Saizeriya Group booked consolidated net sales of ¥99,459 million in the fiscal year under review, operating income of ¥14,365 million, ordinary income of ¥14,022 million, and net income of ¥7,842 million. Net sales were the highest in the history of the Company and the 38th consecutive increase since its foundation. Our operating income, ordinary income, and net income were also the highest so far.

Outlook for the Next Term

It is thought that the economy will continue to face unclear conditions, and the forthcoming term is therefore expected to be a further period of operating within a difficult business environment. Accordingly, our earnings targets are consolidated net sales of $102,500 million, operating income of $14,600 million, and net income of $7,200 million.
