2. Reasons for the accrual of differences

(Consolidated)

Differences from the previous forecast were due to non-consolidated business results.

(Non-consolidated)

Net sales were above the previous forecast because measures for the menu and the effect of the use of DX resulted in a continued upward tendency of the number of customers and average spending per customer on a like-for-like basis. However, the Company experienced the effect of escalating rice prices and the rising of the prices of ingredients, such as vegetables, and the gross margin ratio was 53.8%, 1.2 percent point below the previous forecast; consequently, operating income, ordinary income, and interim net income were below the previous forecast.

3. Revisions to the Full-year Earnings Forecast for the Fiscal Year Ending August 31, 2025 (September 1, 2024, to August 31, 2025)

4. Reasons for revisions

(Consolidated)

Operating income, ordinary income, and net profit attributable to owners of the parent are expected to be below the previous forecast because of revisions to the non-consolidated earnings forecast.

(Non-consolidated)

Net sales are expected to be above the previous forecast due to the expectation that measures for the menu and the effect of the use of DX result in a continuing upward tendency of the number of customers and the average spending per customer on a like-for-like basis. For the first half, however, the Company experienced the effect of escalating rice prices and the rising of the prices of ingredients, such as vegetables, and the gross margin ratio was 53.8%, 1.2 percent point below the previous forecast. For the second half, we are expected to continuously experience the effect of escalating rice prices and the rising of the prices of ingredients, and we revised the expected gross margin ratios for the second half and the full year to 54.5% and 54.2%, respectively (56.0% and 55.5% respectively in the previous forecast). Therefore, operating income, ordinary income, and net income are expected to be below the previous forecast.

*The above-mentioned earnings forecast is based on information available as of the announcement date hereof, and actual business results may differ from the forecast due to a variety of factors in the future.
